WE NOMINATE

Edmund Shackellord DeLong, one of the most delightful and best-liked Princetonians of his era, who this month — following some two decades of service — is relinquishing his responsibilities as Princeton University's Director of Public Information. It was in the fall of 1915, after nearly five years of duty with the World War II Navy, that DeLong turned his back on Princeton-to-New York commuting, abandoned the "news beats" he knew so well as a senior member of the "New York Sun," and accepted the University's bid to help stage the year-long observance of its Bicentennial in 1946-47.

A member of the almost legendary Princeton Class of 1922, which has produced more Princeton Trustees than any class in the University's history and points with understandable pride to an amazing number of outstanding educators, doctors, industrialists and public servants, including Adlai E. Stevenson, the Kentucky-born and Missouri-reared DeLong ("A Valentine's Day Baby" in 1900) transferred to the University from the University of Missouri's School of Journalism. Over the intervening span, from the "Roaring 1920's" to the "Questing 1960's," he has nurtured a deep "dual loyalty" to the so-called "Border States" and to the Town and Gown that have been, and are, his life.

DeLong, the son and son-in-law of Princeton alumni, "broke into" the Fonth Estate with the "Kansas City Star" and the night city desk of the United Press in Manhattan. Then, for a period of 16 years, with time out for a year as Editor of the "Princeton Alumni Weekly," he was a ranking by-line reporter and editor with "The Sun" of New York whose assignments recall volumes such as "Only Yesterday." The glamorous, the great and the not-so-great, the heroes and the phonies, the Depression and the drift into World War II:

this was the panorama DeLong "covered" with his hunt-and-punch techniques on the typewriter keyboard.

With a raconteur's memory which enables him to recapture the details of "the afternoon Haile Selassie visited Princeton" or "the evening Chancellor Adelman spoke in the Chapel," DeLong punched out noteworthy stories on the Lindbergh, Byrd and Chamberlin-Levine trans-Atlantic flights, witnessed the Bruno Hauptmann, Snyder-Gray and Halls-Mills trials, and was a staff correspondent during President Roosevelt's first term at the Summer White House in Hyde Park, N.Y. To DeLong belongs the distinction of either having interviewed, or having handled press arrangements for, seven of the last eight Presidents of the United States (Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy).

Now looking forward to retirement, and concentrating on golf rather than tennis while preparing to write his first book since he coauthored "High and Low Financiers" in the 1930's, DeLong in his quiet way has long been concerned with Princeton public affairs. A founding member of the Princeton Borough Housing Authority, which he served for a quarter-century, he was for long years "one of the handful of Democratic stalwarts who kept the two-party system alive in Princeton" and in the 1950's played an important part in the founding and development of Marquand Park, one of the Borough's major assets.

For his rare capacity for enjoying to the utmost whatever he might undertake; for stimulating in others his own enthusiasm for the things in which he fervently believes; for his contributions to the entwined "professions" of journalism and public relations; he is our nominee as

"IT'S WORTH TRYING"
One of a Kind. The inspired use of mind and spirit to solve a human problem characterizes Princeton at its best.

In such a vein, one of its residents, Mrs. Barklie Henry of Fackler Road, has set her mind, spirit and energy toward a solution of the poverty problem in a small, single corner of a remote region in the Adirondack mountains of New York State.

Mrs. Henry's solution is her new company, Blue Mountain Designs, Inc. This enterprise hires the women of Blue Mountain to make tablecloths, tote bags, hooked rugs and — before long — knitted items, using contemporary designs and the women's own expert craftsmanship.

The company also contracts with the men of Blue Mountain to make fire tools, coffee tables and marble cheese "boards."

A Changed Life. The Henry family has known Blue Mountain and its year-round residents for many years. The people who live there are descendants of the men who were guides and workmen for wealthy hunters who built lavish "camps" in the area half a century ago.

Today, this way of life has changed. Blue Mountain's inhabitants work at the "camps" of the summer people, tend gas stations or make tourist souvenirs out of wood and when winter comes, their spring is far behind indeed.

"These small communities on the fringes of the social and industrial machine find so few ways to participate in our material benefits," Mrs. Henry points out, "and the financial impoverishment that results is accompanied by a loss of pride and spirit."

Mrs. Henry's idea for Blue Mountain Designs came as a result of the Henrys' new Blue Mountain house. Designed by Edward Larabee Barnes, it has many built-in features made by carpenters who worked for the local contractor hired to build the house.

Let's Try. "These men responded so to the design of the house!" Mrs. Henry exclaims. "They made beautiful built-in furniture, and we said, why

BRADLEY AT THE FETE: The Pied Piper of the Hospital Fete Saturday was Bill Bradley. Wherever he went, the basketball star was surrounded by flocks of adoring boys and girls asking for his autograph. He even shot a few baskets (and missed a few). It was Bradley's last informal appearance in Princeton; he will be graduated from the University on Tuesday. (Staff Photo) not show the finest in contemporary design to these people who are such skilled craftsmen?"

She went to Russell Barrowman, industrial arts teacher at the local school. He leapt at her idea and gathered several Blue Mountain people together at the Henrys' house. The result of the meeting—"Well, it's worth trying."

Mrs. Henry had formerly been associated with Vogue and with the Museum of Modern Art and she had open channels in New York City. She picked up yards of exciting contemporary cottons designed by Win Anderson for Jack Lenor Larsen and took them back to the Blue Mountain women.

"You could actually hear the enthusiasm in that room as the women felt the textiles and began to talk about what they would do. They took all the fabrics home. I never saw them again until they were table cloths and place-mats."

Ideas, Ideas. Mrs. Henry, who had never heard the term "jobber," sought out wholesalers in the lower corners of Manhattan: "You don't want me, little lady," said one, "my minimum order is two tons, but I know a man . . ." She wrote Ivan Chermayeff who had designed an exquisite star Christmas card and asked permission to use his design for a hooked rug. Mrs. Barnes, wife of the Henrys' architect, designed a "fire fork" to be hammered out by the Blue Mountain blacksmith and Mr. Barnes designed a coffee table to be made, during the idle winters, by men who worked for the building contractor.

Early in the game, Mrs. Henry encountered the labor laws of New York State. "Cottage industry" is illegal. The women would have to do their sewing in a "factory" under working conditions approved by the New York State Department of Commerce.

"This was certainly more than I had ever bargained for," Mrs. Henry explains, "but I couldn't NOT do it — it could mean so much to my neighbors."

In Business. So she incorporated "Blue Mountain Designs." It is her firm. It is her money that will pay the men and women until the books can show a profit. The women sew in a room in one of the Blue Mountain houses. The New York inspector says only five women may work there at once, and since 15 women are on the payroll, they work, so to speak, in shifts.

Other women are eager to join, but Mrs. Henry has strict standards of performance: nothing turned out by Blue Mountain is by "loving hands at home."

"We feel that these 'one of a kind' communities are the best places to cultivate the 'one of a kind' approach to production," Mrs. Henry says, "but we also want to encourage young people, so we're planning to turn over five percent of our net to a Young Talent Fund which will give prizes in the arts to Blue Mountain's high school students. If we sell enough, maybe we can eventually give scholarships, or pay an art teacher to come once a week."

Georg Jensen in New York took all five of the tablecloths Mrs. Henry offered. In Princeton, the Gourmet has mats, ta-

"We have only been in operation since February, and we plan to start slowly," Mrs.
Henry warns. "I can't tell you the enthusiasm we have had from the Blue Mountain people — I just hope we can keep going for their sake."

Blue Mountain is beautiful country, like a Sung painting from China that Mrs. Henry knew as a girl. Through her love for the region and her concern for its people runs a strong thread of morality, a sense that one cannot enjoy such beauty as a pleasure seeker without responding positively to the needs of one's neighbors. And Mrs. Henry's response has indeed been positive.

STORE AWNINGS SLASHED
At 20 Nassau. The awnings of three stores located in the 20 Nassau Building and that of a nearby drugstore were slashed over the weekend.

Two awnings on the side and one in the front were slashed at the corner store of Douglas MacDald, a men's wear shop. Also victimized were another men's shop,
Harry Ballot, and The French
Shop, a women's dress store.
Leonard Caput, manager of Marsh's Drug Store, 30 Nassau, reported a six-foot slash in his front awning. On Monday morning, the Nassau Barber
Shop, 13 Witherspoon
Street, called police to report that its outside, revolving harber's sign had been ripped off.

MAILBOXES RECOVERED

Fred Cilinka, manager of the Cap & Gown Club, 61 Prospect Street, called police Thursday morning to report a collection of stolen mailboxes that had been left in a pile near the club's patio.

Detective Fred Porter of the Township police reports there were 12 mailboxes, two road barrier signs with flashing lights and one newspaper receptacle in the collection.
Nearly all of the mailboxes had been taken from homes on Snowden Lane and Princeton-Kingston Road. They were returned to their owners.

TEEN GANG SENT HOME

By Borough Police. A group of some 40 Ewing township teenagers who rode into Princeton Friday night were sent back home in a hurry by Princeton police. "Just getting them out of town was a good thing," said Chief Peter J.
McGrohan. "We have enough trouble with our own."

After parking their cars on Tulane Street, the gang of youths were stopped by Sgt.
Michael Carnevale as they attempted to walk toward Nassau Street. Twenty-two of them were taken to police headquarters with the assistance of two patrol cars from the Township called to the scene. Police made no charges but warned the youths to leave town.

According to police, the youths told them they had come to Princeton to attend a dance at the high school. Police pointed out that the dance was open to Princeton students only. Chief McGrohan reported that none of them were dressed neatly. "They didn't come up here to go to any dance," was his estimate.

THE FIRST GRADUATING girls to graduate from the alumnae reunions they can attend over the graduation season at Mercer Street, will study York. Sigrid, daughter of Mr. the University of Pennsylvania.

TOPICS Of The Town

OLD GRADS ARE BACK

It's Reunion Weekend. The men will be back again this weekend. Dressed with joyful color in the costumes of cowboys, astronauts, clowns and Tyroleans, the alumni of Princeton University will converge upon Princeton for the gayest weekend of the year.

For townsfolk, the highlight of Reunion Weekend is the annual Parade in which the blocs of classes march — or perhaps meander is a better word — to Clarke Field for

been president of the city

Following the 25th reunion class in the line of march will be the honored Old Guard, guished secondary schools teaching in New Jersey. Each winner will receive $1,000 and his school $250 for the purchase of books.

Commencement activities will actually begin at 11 Sunday when President Goheen delivers the Baccalaureate Address in the University Chapel to the graduating class, members of the faculty and trustees.

Following the Baccalaureate at 12:15, the Princeton National Alumni Association will hold its annual June meeting in front of Nassau Hall.

The Service of Remembrance for alumni who died within the year, will be held at 3 in the Chapel.

Seniors Will Be Guests. President and Mrs. Goheen will be hosts from 4 to 5 Sunday at a garden party at "Prospect" for members of the graduating class, their parents and others participating in Commencement exercises.

Members of the University's ROTC units will receive their commissions at 9 a.m. Monday from President Goheen and newly-elected members of Phi Beta Kappa will be initiated at 10 in Whig Hall.

At 11 a.m. Monday, traditional Cannon Exercises will be held in front of Nassau Hall.

Kingston Bridge. In addition, two juvenile petitions have been signed by the police against two 17-year-old boys.

Arrested for fighting and later released in their own recognition are Colin Leitch, 18, 106 Broadmead; Daniel Corvino, 20, 131 Jefferson Road; Robert James, 20, 2 Evelyn Place; Robert Smyth, 22, of Madison Street; Kevin Delaney, 20, 56 Jefferson Road; Donald Zuber, 20, 70 William Street; and Charles Smyth, 21, 321 Nassau Street. All are scheduled to appear this Thursday before Magistrate Adele Watson of South Brunswick Township.

They are charged with assaulting Norman Steward, 22, 309 Hodge Hall, Princeton Theological Seminary; William A. Gronlund, 21, 112 Gauss Hall, Princeton University, and Phillip Parmet, 23, 40 Dogwood Lane.

State Police report Mr. Steward was hit on the head by a lug wrench. He was taken to Princeton Hospital with lacerations of the head and body and a concussion and admitted for observation. Mr. Parmet was treated for a possible concussion and released.

Mr. Gronlund received scalp lacerations and bruises. He was treated at the University infirmary.

According to State Police, all of the defendants had been drinking. They had gone to King's Inn but the Inn had refused to serve them. None of the three who were attacked had been drinking, police added.

Just what started the fight is not yet clear, police continued. Following the fracas, one of the Princeton youths, Robert Smyth, lodged a complaint of assault against Mr. Gronlund.

Conducting the investigation were Troopers Robert McManon and James Jones. They were assisted by members of the Borough and Township Police in rounding up the participants. Two cars were halted by Borough police, one driven by Leitch and a second by Delaney.

FOUR TRUCKS DAMAGED

In Pennington Blaze. Four lumber trucks and the garage in which they were housed were damaged Friday evening by a fire at the Woolsey and Cadwallader Lumber Yard in Pennington.

The interior of the concrete block garage and its roof were scorched by the flames. Though still not determined, the origin of the fire is thought possibly to have been the result of a short circuit in the wiring of the trucks. The Pennington Fire Company extinguished the fire, first discovered by an employee at 7:30.

Col. Walter G. Clatanoff

COL. CLATANOFF NAMED
Red Cross Executive. A former U.S. Air Force officer, Colonel Walter G. Clatanoff, has been appointed director of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. Jerald S. Hanks, chapter chairman, made the announcement.

Col. Clatanoff retired on March 31 after more than 30 years of military service. He was professor of air science and head of the Air Force ROTC program at Rutgers from June, 1961 until his retirement.

A 1932 graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) College, he entered military service in 1935 as a second lieutenant. His service career included assignments on three continents.

Col. Clatanoff lives at 1298 Seneca Road, North Brunswick, with his wife and three children. He began his new duties on June 1.

According to Mr. Hanks, the Red Cross is planning to expand its program and increase its services and activities to meet Princeton Community needs.

DADDY OF 'EM ALL?
Fete Is Success. John Reed of Westcott Road won the Mustang and the Hospital Fete Committee raked in a record gross.

The final net profit will not be announced until fall and it is Fete policy not to release gross figures, but Mrs. William Adamson Jr., co-chairman, said that the take was unquestionably a record one.

William Dobson, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, won the baby Mustang and the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill won the portable stereo.

If you're hungry, there are still casseroles available, Mrs. Adamson said. Because of a slipup in communications, one freezer full of casseroles never got to the Fete, and gourmets who would like to buy them may arrange for purchase by calling Mrs. Charles Jaffin at 924-2827 or Mrs. John H. Wallace Jr. at 924-1547.

And who baked the marble cake with chocolate icing and sent it to the Fete on a green pottery plate? The cake was consumed, to the final crumb, by a connoisseur who will be 83 on September 29. She says it is the first good home-made cake she has eaten since mixes were invented, and she wants to sign up the baker and, incidentally, to return the plate for a September birthday cake.

By the way, it was the Board of Trustees who cleaned up on Sunday, not the Lions. The Lions patrolled the Fete on Saturday.

SEVENTEEN ARE FINED
In Princeton Courts. Twelve persons were fined Monday in Borough Court by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. and five in the Township last week by Magistrate Glenn B. Miller Jr.

In traffic court, Magistrate Tams fined Ernest E. Pigna, 18, Cherry Hill Road, $15 for failing to give a signal when making a turn. Because the youth has been involved in a number of traffic violations, Judge Tams revoked his license for 15 days and ordered that he must pass a re-examination by the Motor Vehicle Department. Benjamin Warren, 21, 52 Bayard Lane, paid $15 for the same violation.

Fines of $12 each were levied against David S. Cramp, 30, 10 Westcott Road, who pleaded not guilty to a passing through a flashing red light without stopping, and Thomas A. Weaver, 19, 284 Dodds Lane, stop sign infraction. For —Continued on Page 6

One Hundred Birthday Candles for Dr. Reeve

Saturday, June 19, will be "Dr. Malvern Reeve Day" in Rocky Hill, honoring the physician's 100th birthday. His birthday actually falls on June 17, but the celebration is planned for Saturday so that everybody can be there.

The parade starts at 2 p.m., forming in front of Dr. Reeve's house on Crescent Avenue. Led by an oldtime horse and buggy, such as was used many years ago, the parade will wind around town and back to his house.

In the line of march will be a young people's band, a hand pumper pulled by firemen of the Rocky Hill Hook & Ladder Company No. 1 (of which Dr. Reeve is a charter member) as well as Rocky Hill officials, Boy Scouts and well-wishers.

Dr. Reeve estimates that he has delivered some 3,000 babies in his day, and the parade committee is searching these now-grown-ups to join the marchers. Honors will go to the oldest and youngest.

The program will include a proclamation by the mayor declaring "Dr. Malvern Reeve Day," a scroll presented by the firemen and a special gift.

And there will be birthday cake—some for everyone.

speeding, Linda E. Vogt, 19, 255 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, paid $20, and Charles L. Dey 3rd, 21, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, $15, for careless driving.

In criminal court, John Janoski, 18, 105 Mountain Avenue, charged with assaulting a 20-year-old girl on the corner of Tulane and Nassau Streets last month, forfeited $200 bail for failing to appear. Police said a warrant is still out for the youth who, they say, has gone to Canada.

Charged with committing acts of indecent exposure near the Garden Theater last month, Jacob Packlajan, 46, of Trenton, waived a preliminary hearing. He was held in $1,000 bail for action by a Grand Jury.

Four Princeton University students who were charged with walking down the center line of Nassau Street early in the morning, each paid $5 court cost. Judge Tams suspended all fines. In pleading guilty, the four said they had no thought of creating a disturbance, but were merely celebrating their release from the pressure of examinations.

LOSE LICENSE 60 DAYS. In Township court last week, Magistrate Miller suspended for 60 days the license of McEvyn J. Best, 21, 214 Birch Avenue for driving 65 miles per hour in a 45-mile zone. He imposed no fine.

A University student, Ernest W. Burton Jr., 19, was fined $30 for careless driving. Other fines: Bruce A. Olson, 20, 23 Broadripple Drive, $10, careless driving; John R. Sloan, 17, Opossum Road, Skillman, $10, failing to yield to an emergency vehicle; and Philip Solomon, 26, 18 Harris Road, $10, driving the wrong way on a one-way street. Mr. Solomon pleaded not guilty.

SEEN YOUR TAX BILL?
Property Owner Question.
"If you'd mailed the tax bills out on time so property owners would know how much of an increase they're faced with, a lot more people would be here to protest this ordinance," said Henry J. Frank, 126 Valley Road, at Township Committee Monday night.

Mr. Frank reminded Committee that tax bills should have been sent out on June 1 because the law says a property owner is entitled to see his tax bill two months before the first payment is due, and August 1 is the first deadline.

The ordinance he had in mind was the $3,650 authorization to pay for a feasibility study of the Harrop property. This is the land, adjoining Community Gardens on the north, where a community swimming pool may one day be built. Mr. Frank added that he questioned the entire overall expense of a recreation program, not just the $3,650.

Albridge C. Smith II, who doesn't live in the Township, rose to speak for the trustees of Community Gardens.

Open Space. Continuing its policy of picking up Open Space Committee introduced an ordinance to acquire 22.2 acres in the northwest part of the Township. The package consists of 10.5 acres owned by the University and 11.7 known as the "Pennypacker tract." The cost will be $41,500, plus $1,000 in fees.

Preliminary approval has been received from the state's "Green Acres" program which means the state will pay 50% of the cost, and the Township will apply to Federal officials for an additional 30%. This means that the Township will pay only 20%. Public hearing on June 21.

Committee has $7,000 in state funds left over from realigning Alexander Road, and Committee decided Monday night to ask the state for permission to use the surplus for widening The Great Road.

Embattled property owners on Pretty Brook Road, who protested vigorously last month against their assessments for paving part of the road, had to swallow defeat Monday night, when Committee unanimously approved the assessor's report.

The paving cost is $20,335.91. By ordinance the Township would only have to pay one-third the cost, but assessors felt that property owners would not benefit by two-thirds, and so the Township is bearing almost 60% of the paving cost.

Rules Protested. New amendments to the land subdivision ordinance were protested by Albridge C. Smith, speaking as outgoing president of the Princeton Bar Association. The increasing complexity of these rules and regulations is disturbing to lawyers and clients," Mr. Smith objected. "Property owners accuse us of making a Federal case out of something that seems simple to a layman . . ."

"We adopted these new rules because many plans submitted to the Planning Board didn't have the required information," Committeeman Foster explained, and Hans K. Sander, Planning Board member, said "These new rules just extend what has gone on for a long time."

The amendment requires Township engineer approval of minor subdivision sketch plans at least 20 days before the Planning Board meets; engineers' approval of preliminary subdivision plans and more Planning Board control over scheduling. There is also a new fee schedule.

JEDILOCK AT THE THROTTLE: Sometimes the engineer has as much fun at the passengers, and this one sure did on Saturday. He ran the 40-and-8 locomotive at the Hospital Fete. Some passengers got to ring the big bell. Did you?

The school's 66th commencement marked a farewell to the building which has housed classes for the past 47 years, and to Miss Fine's itself as a separate entity. The school has combined with Princeton Country Day and will open next fall as the "Princeton Day Schools" on a new campus on the Great Road.

Dr. Peter Putnam was the speaker and Rabbi Everett Gendler delivered the invocation and benediction. Mrs. J Richardson Dilworth, chairman of the board of trustees, announced the receipt of more than $15,000 in gifts for the new school.

She presented the following special awards: The President's Award from the Women's College Club, Elise Rosenhaupt; Founder's Award from the Women's College Club, Brigette Hasenkamp; Gold Key, Betsy Hartmann of Class VII; Le Cercle Francais of Princeton Awards, Paula Cantor of the senior class.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO HOLD ORDINATION

At Princeton Man, Robert H. Sorenson, son of Borough Councilman and Mrs. Alfred E. Sorenson 150 Patton Avenue, will be ordained a minister of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, on Sunday, June 20. The service will be held at 4 p.m. at Messiah Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Mr. Sorenson, a graduate of Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., will become assistant pastor at Trinity Lutheran Paribault, Minn. having served a year at Oklahoma Avenue Lutheran Church, Milwaukee, Wis. He is married to the former Shirley Gregory of Richmond, Va.

The public is invited to the ordination service and the reception following in the church social hall.

SUMMER SERVICES SET

In University Chapel, Princeton University Chapel, traditionally closed during the summer months, will remain open this year for the first time. Worship services, led by the chaplains and members of the department of religion, will be held at 10 a.m. on Sundays in the choir loft from June 20 through September 12.

The innovation is caused by the greatly increased use of the university campus during the summer by special study groups.

DEPARTING: The Rev. James W. Marshall, pastor of Pennington Methodist Church since October 1955, will assume his new duties as minister of the Milltown (N.J.) Methodist Church on June 20. (R. DiMaggio Photo)

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

At Messiah Lutheran, Richard Schmidt will be installed as congregation president and Merle Bachmann as vice-president during the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah.

New officers taking part in the installation service conducted by the Rev. Luther H. Kriekoff are Erling Larsen, secretary; Jaclyn Villwock, financial secretary; Arnold Pehta, treasurer; Orion Labaw, Walter Lewis, Carl Lindgren and Glen Joplin, finance board.

Also, elders Paul Rose, William Vandeneuve, Jane Selowalter, Ruth Carlow, Arthur Wagner, Harry Suceop, Roy Cornely, Bernard Delchmann and William Ryan; and trustees James Anderson, Nils Bach, Henry Schmidt, Henry Beidler, Fure Bergman, Lloyd Steiner, Kenneth Werkman, Ruth Wilson and Eleanor Spainhour.

TO SHOW TWO FILMS
At Rosedale Chapel. The Rev. Dr. Serge S. Rizzo of Rosedale Chapel has announced a special film program for 1 p.m. Sunday in Boetsma Hall of the Chapel.

Dr. Otto Piper will show the film "Original Gospel Movement in Japan," a documentary by a Swiss scholar. Jorge Uzzini will show his own film on spiritual healing, "Astral" operations performed by the medium Jose Arigo of Brazil.

JAY PIERSON ELECTED
By Trinity Teens. Activities of the Trinity Teens will be headed by Jay Pierson during the coming year. The new officers will be installed at the a.m. service on Sunday at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Also elected are Drew Colinson, vice-president; Hollis McLoughlin, treasurer; Katy Kennedy, secretary, and Kathy Cherry, assistant secretary.

The Trinity Teens will sponsor an old-fashioned box supper at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 6, in Pierce Hall.

BULLETIN NOTES
Young Singers. The 52-member high school choir of Monroe Street Methodist Church, Toledo, O., will give a concert of sacred music at 8 p.m. on Monday at Princeton Methodist Church. Mrs. Mary C. Anderson, a Westminster Choir College alumna, is director. The concert is free.

Speakers. An attorney turned seminary student, William A. Shepard Jr., will preach at 10 a.m. on Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. His topic is "None Dare Call It Foolishness." Mr. Shepard is graduate of the University of Florida, which awarded his law degree in 1953.

During the 10 years he practiced law in Fort Myers, Fla., he was a president of the Florida Synod of Presbyterian Men, and deacon of the First Presbyterian Church. Now completing his middle year at Princeton Seminary, Mr. Shepard is a part-time teacher of modern European history at the Hun School. He is married and the father of six sons.

FOUR CARS LEAVE ROAD

In Separate Accidents. Four car left the road in accidents last week in the Township, three as the result of skids on rain-slick highways.

Eugene H. Bayard, 18, Westover Hills, Del., a University freshman, was forced off Pretty Brook Road late Friday night near the Pretty Brook Tennis Club and damaged four guard rail posts.

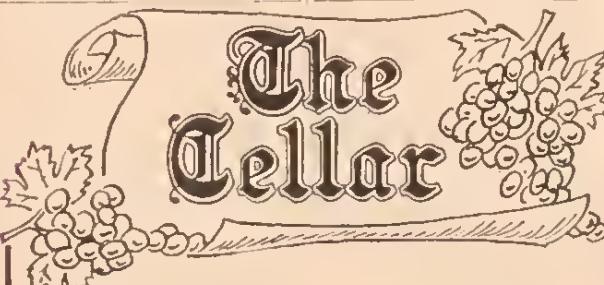

Mr. Bayard told police he was unconscious for 15 minutes. Later he was x-rayed at Princeton Hospital for possible skull injuries.

According to police, Mr. Bayard told them an oncoming truck, taking up three-fourths of the road, sideswiped him and forced him off the road. The entire front and right side of his 1965 car was damaged.

Last Wednesday evening at 7, Clinton R. Crossley, 23, of Lawrenceville, lost control of his car in a fishtail skid on Route 206 and hit a pole. He received abrasions of his right arm and face.

A passenger Miss Ann Bereson, 20, Canal Road, Griggstown, sustained contusions of the abdomen. She was admitted to Princeton Hospital for treatment of possible internal injuries. Both were transported to the hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

A witness said Mr. Crossley managed to right his car after one skid but soon lost control again. His car left the roadway, traveled about 80 feet across the front lawn of Harold A. Pearson, 180 State Road, and then hit a pole at the corner of Mansgrove Road.

Summer Hours for YES

All students attending Princeton High School and all boys and girls under 20 who live in Princeton, may register with YES, the Youth Employment Service, for summer jobs.

YES summer office hours, starting Monday, will be 9 to noon, Mondays through Fridays.

"We can't promise a job, but we'll try to find one for you," is the summer statement from Mrs. Amasa Bishop, director of the YES office.

Girls will find a heavy demand for mother's-helper jobs, and boys will find many yard-work, odd-job and maintenance opportunities.

YES is located on the second floor of Dorothea House, 120 John Street. The telephone number is 924-5841.

Police said the impact moved the pole 6 to 8 inches forward. They made no charges. The car was a total loss.

The same evening, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Fiumenero, 37, 111 Patton Avenue, lost control of her car while rounding a curve on Quaker Road not far from the entrance to Squatter's Grove.

Her car went off the right side of the road, knocked down three guard rail posts

The Rev. Richard Thomas, Methodist chaplain at Princeton University will speak on "Accident or Accident" at 11 on Sunday at Princeton Methodist Church. The Junior Choir will sing.

At Calvary Baptist, the guest minister in the absence of the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer will be the Rev. James E. McBerson. A graduate of Andover Newton Theological Seminary, he is a candidate for his doctorate at Princeton Seminary. His topic is "Christians in Hell."

The Rev. Mr. Dannenhauer is attending a course for ministers and missionaries at the Ecumenical Institute of the World Council of Churches, at Chateau Bossey, Cologny, Switzerland.

Pastor Returns. The Rev. Robert F. Good, former pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Dutch Neck, and his wife will attend a refreshment hour at the church this Sunday following the 11 a.m. service. He is now Field Presbyter of Santa Barbara Presbytery and a staff member of the Los Angeles Presbytery.

BROWN NAMED AT RCA
As Executive Vice-President, Dr. George H. Brown of 552 Mercer Road has been named Executive Vice President, Research and Engineering, of the Radio Corporation of America. He has been associated with RCA since 1933 and came to the laboratories research center here when it opened in 1942.

An authority in electronic communications and television technology, Dr. Brown has overall responsibility for RCA's research and engineering programs. He will report to Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, RCA president.

During World War II, Dr. Brown was responsible for important advances in antenna development for military systems and for the development of radio-frequency heating techniques. He was cited by the War Department for "outstanding work in the research, design and development of radio and radar antennas." A prolific inventor, he holds numerous patents in the field of electronics and communications.

Let the Children Listen.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Marching in the Princeton Memorial Day Parade with my Brownie Troop for the first time was a thrilling experience with a disappointing conclusion.

I feel that it was inappropriate to dismiss the majority of the marchers for free popsicles before the exercises at the Battle Monument began. Any one marching should know why he is doing so; the post-parade services can help youngsters understand this.

Protests Spraying.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Mercer County Mosquito Commission:

I am protesting against your dangerous practice of indiscriminately spraying residential areas with health endangering insecticides.

Last Friday evening, May 28, at approximately six o'clock p.m. one of your trucks went up and down Jefferson Road in Princeton, smothering the entire area with thick clouds of D.D.T.

Our children were playing in the midst of these harmful fumes and many people were outraged about your bighanded action.

Not only was there a communications failure in not alerting the neighborhood in advance but by failing to do so you prevented the formation of any opposition to your measure.

A copy of this letter is being sent to Town Topics of Princeton.

RALPH HEYMANN
171 Jefferson Road
Metuchen, N. J.

Editor's note: Harold Black, superintendent of the Mercer County Mosquito Commission, says that the May 28 operation on Jefferson Road was undertaken after three residents had complained to the Commission about mosquitoes in the area.

It was "fogging," as opposed to "spraying," Mr. Black said. "Fogging" kills adult mosquitoes; "spraying" catches the larvae. Because the weather was unexpectedly warm early in May, mosquitoes hatched before the Commission could get around to spraying the larvae, and fogging expeditions have been necessary to kill the active adults.

Most mosquitoes seem to be in catch - basins, and larvae have been found in the water that collects in empty tin cans. The "fog" used could have been either DDT or malathion, Mr. Black said. He added that the Commission checks out its chemicals for safety with state chemists and with Rutgers.

"Affectionate Admiration."

BACK TO SCHOOL

For Graduate Banking. Malcolm C. Magner, assistant vice-president and manager of the Hopewell office of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company will enter the Stoner Graduate School of Banking at its summer session, June 14 to 25.

Held at Rutgers University, the course includes three two-week summer sessions, two years of extension work completed at home, and a thesis based upon original research in some phase of finance. Mr. Magner is one of 1,110 bankers who will attend the two-week session, which is sponsored by the American Bankers Association.

and came to rest against a fourth. Mrs. Fumenero was not injured.

Route 206 near Ewing Street was the scene of another skidding accident which occurred at 2 a.m. Thursday.

Fred Capers, 50, Carter Road, told police a slippery spot caused him to swerve to the right. His skidding car hit the guy wire of one pole and then continued on to strike the next pole in line, snapping the top of it.

Police ticketed Mr. Capers for careless driving. He was not injured.

COMMENCEMENT HELD

At Princeton Country Day, Princeton Country Day School awarded diplomas to 30 boys in commencement exercises held Monday.

Dr. James I. Armstrong, President of Middlebury College and a member of the class of 1934 at Country Day, gave the address to the graduating class.

ELEANOR M. DELANOY
(Mrs. Douglas Delaney)

is laying down her burden after almost a quarter century of the most dedicated service to our community as Executive of our Red Cross.

Unlike other organizations depending on volunteers, Red Cross, in its Home Service, Blood Donor and Disaster Services, frequently deals with life and death problems, and consequently service must be available 24 hours a day, every day in the year.

Having been a volunteer, I know how often the most conscientious of us was kept home by sick children when young, and when older, bad to go south in winter and north in summer. When this happened to us, Mary Sage quietly adapted or cancelled her own plans and took over, because her watch-word always was "the need must be met."

My mother was among the first to benefit from the Blood Program, and it was Mary Sage herself who rounded up and delivered the donors, who were needed at mid-night.

When a young veteran had a sudden break-down, it was Mrs. Sage who drove him to a mental hospital, at night. When fire destroyed most of a migrant camp in Etra, Mrs. Sage arrived promptly to arrange food and lodging for the homeless. These are just sample cases.

We are lucky that she will continue to guide the Junior Red Cross, where her vision has opened such interesting opportunities for service for our young people.

In expressing heart-felt thanks to Mary Sage, I know I am speaking for hundreds of others besides myself who know what she has done and who share my affectionate admiration for her as a person.

Mark H. O'Donoghue received the Headmaster's Cup, given to that member of the senior class who has rendered the highest service to the school by leadership. The Faculty Cup, given to a member of the senior class who best exemplifies the school motto of "Manhood, Learning and Gentleness," was awarded jointly to Nathaniel C. Hutner, Harold H. Jaeger and Samuel M. Walker.

Whitaker H. Raymond received the athletics cup, and Robert R. Spears III was elected for service to the school. John B. Taylor was honored for endeavor and improvement in Form VI and Jeremy D. Dunn for endeavor and improvement in Form V.

The upper school scholarship cup for highest general average went to Steven M. Vine, and the lower school scholarship cup to Roger E. Sherman. The Alumnus cup, awarded to a boy in the fifth form for a high scholastic average and contribution to the school, was given to Brent H. Vine. Kim A. Otis won the Nichols Bowl for improve-

Obituaries

Walter M. Riggs, 75, of 229 Mt. Lucas Road died June 3 in Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Ruth V. Riggs.

Born in Hightstown, Mr. Riggs lived in Princeton since 1916. He was a sheriff's aid for 25 years, retiring in 1964. After attending Hightstown public schools, he served in the Army Medical Corps in France in World War I. He worked as editor and business manager of the Princeton Packet following his army service. He was also associated with the Princeton Post Office for several years.

Mr. Riggs was a member of the Veterans of World War I of the USA, Inc., Princeton Post 76; American Legion; Hook and Ladder Fire Company, the Exempt Firemen's Association and George Washington Council, Boy Scouts of America. He received the Boy Scouts' Silver Beaver award for distinguished service. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Catherine L. Clark of Princeton; two sons, William M. Riggs of Aspen, Colo., and Edward W. Erickson of Phoenix, Ariz.; six grandchildren, two brothers, Edward W. Riggs of Trenton and Lewis E. Riggs of Hightstown; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. F. Hugh Lililton and the Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker of St. Andrew's Church officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. MacClintock of 37 Lake Lane, died June 5 in Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of Paul MacClintock, professor emeritus of the Princeton University geology department.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Lucia L. Barbour of Winchester, Va.; a son, Copeland MacClintock of New Haven, Conn., five grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Witecomb of Bethlehem, Pa., and a brother, Lowell P. Copeland of Pittsburgh, Pa.

A memorial service was held in the Marquand Transcept of Princeton University Chapel, the Rev. Rowland Cox officiating. Contributions may be sent to the National Audubon Society.

Taylor H. McBride, 63, of 271 Varsity Avenue, died June 4 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. He was a guard at the American Cyanamid Company.

Born in Columbia, Pa., Mr. McBride was a member of the Loyal Order of Elks of Camden and was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Beatrice E. McBride of Princeton, Mrs. Elmira Miller and Miss Hanna Bisking, both of Columbia.

Graveside services were held at Laurel Hill Cemetery, Columbia, the Rev. Roland S. Pierson, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Columbia, officiating.

Mrs. Catherine Sessions, 40, of Route 1, died June 4 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was the wife of Nathan Sessions.

Born in Wilmington, N.C., Mrs. Sessions lived in Cranbury for four years before moving to Princeton in April.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Sarah L. Jones and a son, William, both of Trenton; five sisters, a brother and three grandchildren.

The Rev. Homer Thomas of Emmanuel Pentecostal Church of Our Lord officiated at the service. Interment was in Brainerd Cemetery, Cranbury.

Mrs. Helen N. Maple, 52, of 739 Prospect Avenue Extension, died suddenly on June 6.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their kind expression of sympathy, beautiful floral tributes and other kindnesses extended to us during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved brother, John Clayborne.

In Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of John V. Maple. Born in Trenton, the daughter of the late Edward and Mabel H. Nutt, Mrs. Maple was a Princeton resident for 26 years. She was a graduate of Trenton Central High School. —Continued on Page 16

Parking Eased

Drivers may park all day without penalty in any Borough two-hour zone from June 16 to some time in August, Mayor Henry S. Patterson announced this week.

The suspension does not apply to meters, however; two-hour meters will be patrolled as usual.

Wednesday, June 16, is the day construction starts on the new public library, and this means the start of demolition for the Wiggins Street parking lot.

Most of this lot is all-day parking, and cars will have no place to go until the Spring Street lot has been completed. Negotiations are still under way for the final bit of property needed to complete the Borough's plans for Spring Street and Mayor Patterson hopes that papers can be signed and the lot ready by August.

ENG. RESEARCH LEADS

In Business Softball, Engineering Research maintained its lead in the eastern division and American Cyanamid and RCA 1 remained tied for first place in the western division, as a result of action last week in the Business Softball League.

ERC scored two runs in the last inning in a come-from-behind 13-12 victory over McGraw-Hill Warehouse. Paul Crea pitched the win, aided by Don Machusak's four hits in four trips, and homers by Ed Pausen and Bob Easton.

Don Kelley led Cyanamid to an 8-7 victory over Columbian Carbon. The losers outhit Cyanamid 14 to 11, but made five errors in the field. Stan Thune and Dan Pietrus hit well for the losers.

Other Sports On Pages 41-44

RCA 1 annihilated McGraw-Hill Office, 20-1, behind the seven-hit pitching of Wally Reichert. Ed Lopatin, John Meyer, Walt Hieinbothem and Reichert all had three hits, and Bob Arlett picked up four for RCA.

Educational Testing scored a run in the last inning to beat Hopewell TV, 7-6. Dick Schenkopf got three hits for ETS and scored the winning run, while Jack Dilworth picked up his first victory, allowing only one hit over the first four innings. Ken and Bill Hoagland got half of Hopewell TV's total hits; Ken getting four and Bill two.

RCA 2 moved into second place in the eastern division by beating ORC, 10 to 9. Jim Crandall and Joe Wlaeck provided the heavy hitting for RCA, both going three for four, Wlaeck with a four bagger. Jerry Uhl was the losing pitcher for ORC which has yet to win its first game.

Accelerator split a pair of games, beating RCA Astros, 0 to 2, and dropping a make-up game on Thursday to McGraw-Hill Warehouse, 7 to 6. Against the Astros, Don Clovar, Ed Garski and Don Schuler all got at least two hits, including an extra base blow. Jack Rartow outpitched

Tennis Dates Announced

The Princeton YMCA Summer Tennis Program, long a part of the summer scene here, will begin its 1965 season June 21 when the first four of 13 weekly tournaments will get underway. John Conroy, University tennis coach, will supervise and direct the tournaments.

First are boys, 12 and under, girls, 12 and under; boys, 14 and under; and girls, 14 and under. Entries for these four will close next Friday, June 10.

Entries must be made the Friday before each tournament at the YMCA office accompanied by a $1 registration fee. Contestants under 18 play free, but all players must furnish one can of new balls. Additional information and a complete listing and dates of all the tournaments are available at the Y office.

Gus Amor to pick up the win. Burton lost the make-up game, to Ed Day of McGraw-Hill. Bert Blackwell, Bob Caughell and Sket Muse led the winners in hitting. Good fielding by Jim Imand helped cut off a last-inning rally by Accelerator.

ORIOLES ONE UP

In Midget World Series, the first game of the Princeton YMCA Midget League World Series, a best-of-three affair, went to the Orioles as they defeated the Giants, 4-2, Monday on the Y diamond. The Giants are the defending champions.

The Giants led, 2-0, through the fifth but some loose defensive play cost them first a tie and then the game. Mark Sword was the winning pitcher.

The second game was scheduled for Wednesday, with the third, if necessary, to be played Friday. All series games are played at the Y field on Avalon Place.

HIGH
REAL ESTATE

FOR A NICE YOUNG FAMILY this is a sweet teen-aged (just) house in almost "newborn" condition. Having gotten that wee literary conceit behind us, we'll move on to straight facts, i.e., that the frame Cape Cod house contains living room with fireplace, dining room kitchen, two bedrooms, tiled bath, den or third bedroom downstairs, plus two bedrooms and bath up. However, there is considerable more appeal in the house than the mere facts indicate. The dining room, for instance, has a sitting end where glass is used not only in sliding doors but around the corner to give a view of the rose garden. In the living room is a small alcove which might be used for reading, music or what-have-you and serves to break up the regularity of a rectangle room rather charmingly.

The grounds (.4 acre) are thoroughly delightful. The foundation planting is most handsome; a sunny lawn area leads to a natural woody, shaded area; there is a virtual forest of dogwood as well as specimen and shade trees — all is enhanced by post and rail fencing on three sides. What's more, the location — a tiny, peaceful Township street — is fine; and the price is only $31,500. Exclusively ours.

"I Was Astounded..."

MOVING: Will sell 12x18 blue Lee's rug, double bed with Beautyrest box spring and mattress, chaise lounge, Solovox, fireplace accessories, three piece sectional sofa, ping-pong table, croquet set, GE portable TV, cedar wardrobe, Sunbeam coffeemaker, 2 window fans, Craftsman power jigsaw. 921-8750.

Two days after the ad had appeared, the woman who inserted it wrote, "I was astounded at the response... sold practically everything I'd advertised." The ad cost $1.94, just a fraction of any one of the many articles sold.

Each week, upwards of 30,000 people are interested in seeing what you may have to sell. Try investing $1.94 — or as little as $1.25 — to make a profit on something you no longer need.

THIS ROAD MAY NOT BE YELLOW BRICK
BUT FOLLOW IT AND FIND HAPPINESS

For at its end is as liveable a four-bedroom house as we've ever seen. Rooms for adult living and entertaining are all on one level: living and dining rooms, library, breezy screened porch, kitchen, laundry, and powder room. Arranged on two lower levels with direct access to the out of doors, huge family and recreation rooms make a special haven for children in any age group. Two full baths and two well located lavatories and, delight of delights, central air conditioning.

HE'S THE HOSTAGE: Phillip Paul as "Leslie," the hostage in Brendan Behan's play, is comforted by Clare Reidy, who plays "Teresa." The brogue-filled Irish comedy will play two more week-ends under the Community Players' banner in Murray Theatre.

News Of The THEATRES

"HOSTAGE" OPENS

For Three-week Run. It is a sad duty to report this week on the latest production of the Princeton Community Players, Brendan Behan's "The Hostage." It will run four more performances: Friday and Saturday of this week and Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19, at Murray Theatre.

The past two or three excursions with the Players have been pleasant ones. "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad" gave us an amusing, slickjoke evening; "Look Homeward, Angel" was a genuinely solid achievement and last year's "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" was a good spring romp.

But this spring, Brendan has let us all down. "The Hostage" tells us about the events that occur in a lodging house-brothel in Dublin, an establishment managed by a middle-aged IRA man named Pat who had been a hero in the big days of the Irish rebellion.

Although it is now 1958, and Easter Week is long past, the old memories are still amusingly alive, and the IRA captures as hostage and takes to the lodging house, a young cockney soldier who will be held and shot if an Irish lad in Belfast is not reprieved from his scheduled hanging.

It is always risky to review a non-professional production on opening night and perhaps "The Hostage" will be better this weekend than it was last, but as it stood last Friday, it is not an offering we can recommend.

The trouble is that the acting just isn't good enough to carry the play's structural weakness. Sometimes in an amateur production, one or two actors will be so good that they make you forget the rest, and sometimes the play is so strong that almost nothing can shake it, but neither is true in "The Hostage."

Aydin Umur contributes a delicious character sketch of an elderly, slightly dotty veteran of the Irish wars. Trevor Owens makes a believably Irish landlord with a stout republican heart; Philip Paul (the hostage himself) has a first-rate cockney accent, but these are not enough to sustain Behan's fragile offering.

Ah, yes - what of Behan? We heard much before "The Hostage" opened in Princeton, of his irreverence and his bawdiness and indeed the Players' program carries the Behan credo of "total irreverence for anything connected with society...."

But somehow it all seems embarrassingly pale and remote, at least to an American audience. It is true that Behan speaks without particular reverence of the church of England and priests, both Roman and Anglo; of the institution of royalty and indeed of the IRA itself, but there really isn't much here to raise either an eyebrow or a laugh.

When "The Hostage" was running—was it indeed on Broadway?—Behan himself, drunk as Saturday night, used to climb onto the stage and belabor his actors, frequently joining in the performance. Surely it was the expectation of seeing him thus that brought audiences to the play. How much else is there?

And perhaps Behan, through his alcoholic fuzz, realized that something wasn't quite right, something that could be fixed right now by a little tinkering while the machinery was in motion.

We could have used him on stage at Murray Theatre last weekend.

—Katharine Bretnall

PLAYHOUSE

Young Cassidy (thru. Tues.) is a considerably romanticized, even fictionalized, version of the autobiography of Irish playwright Sean O'Casey. Before his death last year, he is said to have approved the choice of Rod Taylor in the title role.

The early 20th Century story concerns a young, bitter Irishman who lives in Dublin with his mother (played by Flora DELIGHTFUL DAISY: Rod Taylor as Cassidy and Julie Christie as Daisy, the music hall entertainer, put aside the Irish rebellion for a romantic interlude in "Young Cassidy," now at the Playhouse.

News Of The Theatres

Robson, his sister and her children, and an actor brother. It is a life of grinding poverty. Cassidy yearns to write, confining most of his pieces to inflammatory attacks on the English. He also trains with the Irish underground. His play causes a riot on opening night at the Abbey Theatre.

Rod Taylor plays the fiery playwright with depth and integrity. Maggie Smith is touching as the woman he loves and leaves. Also in the cast are Michael Redgrave, Dame Edith Evans and members of the Abbey Theatre. Julie Christie is introduced in the role of a teasing vixen, and she carries every scene she is in.

comes vividly to life. There is squalor and bitterness, but there is rousing humor as well.

GARDEN

Synanon (thru Tues.) is a sympathetic casebook on drug addiction. Synanon House in Santa Monica is a rehabilitation center for junkies run by ex-junkies.

The scenes are stark, sometimes melodramatic, as the camera recounts the story of young Zankie's fight to kick the habit. Edmond O'Brien plays the real life role of Chuck Dederick, head of Synanon, a man who battles with financial and legal problems while trying to hold the Synanon program together.

Alex Cord in the role of Zankie is totally fascinating. He makes a dramatic contrast with the film's general statement of hope. Chuck Connors and Stella Stevens typify the average Synanon resident, led into crime or prostitution to satisfy their drug cravings.

There is a documentary flavor to the film, heightened by scenes shot on the premises and by the presence of many of the actual residents in the east.

PRINCE

The Amorous Adventures of Moll Flanders. (Now playing through Tuesday) This version of the Daniel Defoe classic has been termed "Tom Jones" with a cleavage. The year is 1720, a bawdy free-swimming time in Old England. Kim Novak is the flirtatious orphan, Moll Flanders who survives an almost ruinous road from rags to riches. She is essentially the happy whore, first seduced in the linen closet by the mayor's son.

Richard Johnson, a Shakespearean actor, is Jemmy the handsome highwayman. Angela Lansbury appears as Lady Blystone and Italian film director Vittorio De Sica is Lady Blystone's lover.

Also in the cast are Lilli Palmer and George Sanders. The acting around Kim Novak is so competent that she is swept along into her best portrayal to date.

ART FILMS SET By Study Group. The 1965-66 plans of The Cenacle, a new film study group at Princeton University, include a series of 16 film classics, experimental films, guest lectures by critics and film personalities and the establishment of a permanent film library.

IT'S NEW To Us

MATCH, NATCH!
With Ruffles. Voile, an old-fashioned fabric if there ever was one, has been freshened up for 1965 by an alliance with dacron and the dacron-cotton combination has been formed into a ruffly feminine collection of Majestic separates now at Nevius-Voorhees.

Lined where necessary, the voile is either solid or print. In solid form, it's a wonderful ripe cantaloupe color, a good hot lime or powder blue. Printed, it's in blue or beige.

We found a separate skirt in the soft pleats that may be heralds of the return of the full skirt. There's an A-line skirt, too, and both styles have a soft little tie in front.

Wear with these bright skirts a blouse with a wide neck ruffle and dandy ruffles at the wrist. A sleeveless tuck-in blouse has a tailored neckline ending in a bow. A bright lemon shirt, to wear with the beige print, has a tucked bosom.

Sporttempo adds to the fun with a dacron-cotton crepe shirt with open collar, white front and grey-yellow stripes. You wear it with a pale yellow arnel skirt, permanently pleated, changing off with a simple yellow arnel popover. Blues in this collection, too, if you have enough yellow.

Moving from separates to singles, we come to a white rayon linen shift with an eight inch band of embroidery down the front and a wide blue insertion of ribbon. Nardis of Dallas sends up a chalk-white arnel pleated skirt, sharp as starch, and a white overblouse with royal and navy diamonds at the hem.

Swimming this summer? Nevius is slipping into its junior size two piece of white pique, the one with navy braid trim, very short white shorts and

"OUR 70TH YEAR"

Beauty for You

"There's a sleeping beauty in every woman," says Yolanda Gilardi of Charles of the Ritz, and to prove it, she will be at Nevius Voorhees through Friday to show how much beauty potential lies beneath the skin and to give you a free present besides.

"It's the subtle changes, not the drastic ones, that add up to the finished appearance," says Miss Gilardi. "A lift to the brow, a new shape for the mouth or an individual color of powder can literally subtract years from a woman's face."

To support her premise, Miss Gilardi will give you, free with each cosmetic purchase, a three month's supply of Charles of the Ritz powder, personally hand blended just for you.

"To awaken your sleeping beauty," says Miss Gilardi.

navy-white polka dot elastic bloomers underneath.

A candy stripe two-piece has lace edging, if you can believe it. The briefest shorts in town are stretch royal tank shorts with a severe belt, just like a boy's, and a royal-white bra top. Comes in black and white, too.

If you aren't a junior, Nevius suggests Jantzen's one piece white arnel jersey, gathered at the side, and the most flattering bit of sleekness any women ever wore. Cole has that black tank suit with the shoe-lacing up the front. And of course you saw the black tank with the deeply slashed front V ('way below the waist) filled in with net and marked, so you won't miss it, with a low bow.

A splendid size 38 suit is black and white plaid with boy-leg, narrow straps and self buttons down the front.

For resting after the swim, Nevius takes along a pale blue (or yellow) dacron-cotton waltz gown with a deep eyelet yoke which has been cut from the same bolt as the full white eyelet coat. The coat has an upstanding collar and elbow-length sleeves.

Cherry or apricot tricot makes a gown with net ruffles around the wide elbow sleeves and all the way down the front. The gown underneath is almost plain, to contrast with the seduction of ruffles.

The Cencale will also award a $100 prize for the best thesis on a subject related to motion pictures and establish grants to Arts at Princeton for the support of undergraduate film-making.

Directors whose work is included in the series are Antonioni, Bunuel, Chaplin, Clair, Dovzhenko, Dryer, Eisenstein, Flaherty, Keaton, Lubitsch, Murnau, Pudovkin, Renon, Sporstrom, van Sternberg and von Stroheim. Bonus films will be offered.

A limited number of Cencale memberships at $10, may be obtained in the lobby of the University Store through this Friday. No individual admissions will be sold. Further information may be obtained by calling 921-4785.

COWARD PLAY COMING

"Hay Fever." An old newcomer to Broadway will open first in New Hope. It's Noel Coward's comedy classic, "Hay Fever" which will be revived in New York for the 1966-67 season. First, however, it will play Bucks County, starting Monday and continuing through June 26 at the Playhouse.

Heading the cast will be Margaret Phillips, whom Playhouse audiences will remember in "Blithe Spirit," "The Children's Hour," "Fallen Angels" and "The Heiress." She will be joined in the Coward comedy Days, who won an Obie award for his solo performance in "Krapp's Last Tape," Burt Brinckerhoff who starred on Broadway in "Blue Denim," and Margaret Hamilton who dissolved into a puddle 25 years ago as the Wicked Witch in "The Wizard of Oz."

"Hay Fever" will be directed by Edward Parone who staged "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" for the Playhouse.

This play will be the last chance to buy balance-of-the-season subscriptions to the New Hope Playhouse. Seven plays remain to be presented this summer.

FOR THE CHILDREN

And Grown-ups, Too. Children, jazz fans and devotees of musical comedy—and sometimes all three are wrapped up in the same package—will be served this summer by offerings at the Lambertville Music Circus.

Four children's classics have been taken from the public domain and freshly adapted for all children who will troop to the big tent on Saturday mornings at 11.

The first show will be "Cinderella and the Sisters" as written and directed by Richard Kinter. It will be given on June 26. Next will be "Runupostitskin" on July 10, presented in Lambertville by Ken and Ray Rockefeller's Traveling Playhouse. Following, on July 24, will be a double bill "Hansel and Gretel" and "The Gingerbread Man," presumably using the same gingerbread house for economy.

And did you know that many business firms use Tiger transportation? Various departments go off for the day to see how somebody else runs his factory, or to attend conference or convention in, say, Atlantic City.

Tiger will go overnight, of course, and is even now preparing to take Princeton's Young Life youngsters out to Colorado. For a long trip, you may have the seats removed, if you wish, and tables installed for bridge or paper work.

Talk things over with Don West or with Dick Panicaro, the general manager, or with Eva Marcus. Probably you should allow about a week for your charter to be arranged but shorter periods of time are OK, if you have sudden plans.

FOUR FOR TEA

Silver, from Victoria. A four-piece coin silver tea set, made in Boston in 1857 for Jones, Shreve, Brown and Company, waits on the tea table at The Silver Shop on Palmer Square, for some bride with an appreciation for antiques.

It's a fine set, with an acorn motif and acorn finials, and the Silver Shop thinks the owner will find its waste bowl especially decorative (and versatile).

Near by, perhaps ready to walk out with the tea set, is a handsome cherry dropleaf 175 years old in mint condition. It seats ten when opened, but waits quietly and unobtrusively against the wall when its leaves are down.

Several small pieces of silver will tempt you and the brides on your list this June. One is a ladle with a deep pouring lip, ebony handle and curious little serpentine brace between handle and bowl. Six bouillon spoons in the deeply repousse pattern of "Maryland Rose" were made in 1910 by Jenkins and Jenkins for some lucky Edwardian bride. The Victorian hors d'oeuvre plate—a compote, really, has an interesting engraved border.

Brass makes its appearance in an oblong trivet standing four inches tall, and a round trivet made just like a three-legged piecrust table. The oblong one is the kind used to hold a teakettle on the hearth, way back when.

Here is a pair of Queen Anne candlesticks, six inches tall, made of brass and not only worn to a deep patina by time, but actually rubbed smooth by many hands so that the fluting on the columns is almost smooth. These square-based sticks have plungers in the bottom to use for ejecting the candle stub. Modern designers, please copy.

The Fitzhugh pattern is represented in six Spode coffee cups that are larger than demitasse, smaller than standard. They are traditional blue on that milky blue-white, all in perfect condition. Minton competes with a pair of compotes: they are white, trimmed with gold and bright turquoise, made in 1840 and almost surely designed to be placed on a high shelf because the charm of their open-work bases can only be appreciated when viewed from below.

Ever meet Mary Sidney, Countess of Pembroke? Dead now, you know. She was a lady in waiting to Elizabeth I, and in 1597, she had her portrait painted on wood. The detail of lace ruff, bodice pearl and delicate finger is almost photographic, and her garnet warmth is a mellow note in a 20th century world.

MUSIC In Princeton

EXPERIMENT IN MUSIC
With 1/4 Size Violinists, Miss Barbara Beissel of 257 Nassau Street lashed an armful of theories about child music education out of the window about a year ago. She's been happy about it ever since.

The thing that encouraged her was an awesome recital by ten young violinists, ages 5 to 13, at the Lawrence Township Junior High School in March, 1964. Directed by Shinichi Suzuki, the moppets played the Bach Double Violin Concerto, Vivaldi's A-minor Concerto and the first movement of Eccles' Violin Sonata in G Minor.

"I'd never heard the Eccles before," Miss Beissel said the other day at her home. "It was so beautiful that everybody was almost in tears. . . These little children played with such wonderful, expressive phrasing and interpretation."

"They had excellent how control, a good tone quality with vibrato, and very accurate intonation. It was just astounding!"

Miss Beissel, a longtime student of violinist Anshel Brusilow and violist Max Arnoff of Philadelphia, knows what it means to work for an hour or more on one phrase of music.

Now a teacher of instrumental music and chorus at Eldridge Park School, she also knows musicians' theories about training children. The little ones aren't ready.

"Having seen Suzuki's results, I had to find out how he did it!" She cornered him after the concert and spoke to him through an interpreter.

While researching for her master's degree in music at Columbia, she had found mention of Suzuki's "Talent Education Program." "So I had an inkling that it was rote teaching that he began with little kids." Suzuki demonstrated some of his methods for her, and she later heard a second performance at the Music Educators' Conference in Philadelphia.

Started With Six-Year Olds.
With a few weeks of the Lawrence concert, Miss Beissel, completely excited about the potential of the Suzuki teachings, gained endorsement from school authorities and set up an experimental class of 6-year olds. She soon had youngsters yes . . .

"PEOPLE HAVE SAID that at this age, children are not supposed to have fine muscular coordination, but still they can play all these things on the violin! I can't figure it out!" says music teacher Barbara Beissel (above) with her Suzuki violin pupils (from left) Tommy Rili, 7; Cynthia Thomas, 6; Karen Zeis, 6; Chris Goldeh, 6; and Bruce Kraut, 7. Story, this page. (Staff Photo) banging around the doorways, listening in.

"Suzuki believes that a child should be taught music in the same way he learns to talk. He will hear music around him for quite a time, then he will begin to play it, and then begin to read it."

A violinist himself, Suzuki began his program in Japan about 15 years ago as a post-war contribution to his nation's morale. There are now about 8,000 students trained or in training at 45 centers throughout Japan. An early student, Tosiya Eto, teaches at Curtis Institute.

His theory is that all children have great potential, capable of development at a very early age. "Not all reach the same level, but each can achieve in other fields the equivalent of his skill with his mother tongue."

Listen First. Miss Beissel, a warm-hearted woman whose students trail her in the halls, set to work with 1/4, 1/2 and 3/4 size violins. She stocked "Listen and Play" instruction books by John Kendall (who studied the Suzuki method in Japan) and bought a set of violin recordings. "I read everything I could get my hands on."

The children, all agog, began with the recordings, hearing them many times. They did game-exercises with their pint-size violins to develop the left hand position. Even learning bowing and fingering was a game. Soon they were playing songs while marching around follow-the-leader fashion, and they recently gave a concert. "They have a good time," little Karen Seitz, mother says. "They're so proud of what they can do!"

Karen, now 6, watched the lessons last spring and knew most of the songs when she began with the class in the fall. When she was given her latest book, Miss Beissel told her she'd get her lesson later. "Karen gave me that cute, no-teeth smile of hers, and the next thing I knew, I heard the first song coming from across the hall!"

She laughed, adding, "All of my little ones can read music — not that I've taught them. The instruction books show the fingerings over the notes. The children associate what they see with what they play. They just figure it out for themselves . . ."

"WORTH EVERY PENNY," says Howard Grant (right) when questioned about the high cost of our nation's space program. Walter Tuomisto agrees, pointing out that though the cost is high, our own country gets it all back.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, is our space program worth the high cost?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Howard Grant, Plainshoro, carpenter for Matthews Construction: Sure it's worth every penny. It's got to be because we have to stay up with the Russians or ahead of them. If this is something to be used for war—we hope it isn't—but if it comes to that and Russia gets way ahead of us, we'll be lost. And it provides a lot of employment for this country.

Walter Tuomisto, Cranbury, carpenter for Matthews Construction: I would say so. It supplies a lot of jobs for people in this country. We may be spending a lot of money but our own country is getting it back. One thing, it's keeping our money over here. Also, there's probably a lot of truth in the statement that whoever controls space will control the world.

Mrs. Carol Johnson, Yardville secretary: Sometimes I wonder if they couldn't spend more on medical science. But it's necessary to spend it on space, too, or we'd be left behind. Russia will beat us out. I don't know how much is being spent on space but between the two, I think medical research is more important.

Miss Phyllis Reed, Hamilton Square, secretary: If this money is being spent in a sense of competition then I don't necessarily agree it is being spent wisely. But if it is being spent in the sense of scientific research and advancement, fine, then I feel it is worthwhile. I don't agree with the argument of being first on the moon just for the sake of being first. This is ridiculous.

Leo McGillen, Drakes Corner Road, gardener: I think it is. I think we'll get something out of it, something scientifically beneficial. And we have to keep up with the Russians; we can't afford not to.

Lawrence A. Menefee, Baltimore, architect: Yes, because I think the cost is relative to the ultimate value. The byproducts of the technology and research going into the space program will definitely benefit mankind. What does billions of dollars mean in terms of our gross national product? So you reduce the space program a few billion. Are you going to reduce taxes at the same time?

Miss Susan Waring, Belle Mead, nurses' aide: I think it is. I think it is very important as far as science is concerned. Basically, it is not a matter so much of keeping up with the Russians as it is just finding out new things. I think space exploration will determine a lot about our own planet.

William McCarroll, Lawrenceville, chemist for RCA Labs: Yes, I believe it is. I believe man's curiosity is going to drive him towards that man has always explored things and he is going to continue to. We can't tell what is going to come of this but it's well worth the effort. It's of scientific value and it is a first step in the exploration of space. It certainly has propaganda value as well—no question about that.

George Kerner, 15 Forester Drive, production manager: On balance, I think so. We have to keep up with the technology of space. If we don't, we will be phased out by the Russians and in the technology age this could have very serious consequences. We should strive to keep ahead for our own self-interest. It's also a spur to technological achievement.

Glen Holtkamp, Holiday Inn, engineer for E&I, Route 1: Yes, I think so. I believe progress is worth a lot of money; the minute we stand still is the time we go backwards. So to expend money for a project broadening man's horizons and exploring outer space is well worth the cost, especially in light of world events and other nations which are spending money in these areas.

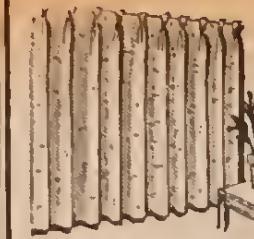

Donald Petronella, Trenton, assistant manager, Saks Fifth Avenue, Nassau Street: I think so. From it, I think we will obtain many advantages. I think we'll probably learn a lot more about the weather than what we know now; supremacy in outer space is at stake. I feel there will be a lot of offshoots from this which we aren't aware of right now.

G. R. Richards, Hampton, Ohio, retired: I feel it is. The government will spend the money one way or the other, and space is good clean sport.

Robert Beard, Edwards Place, associated with Princeton University: I feel it has to be done and I don't see any other way to do it. This is one of these necessary exploration efforts—you can't predict the outcome—but you have to go ahead and try. It's like searching for new minerals. There's no guarantee of success, yet you often end up finding something more valuable than what you were searching for.

Eugene Raudsepp, 23 Linden Lane, psychologist: Yes and no. I feel the money could be spent more profitably on other types of research and development—mental health, cancer and so forth—but on the other hand, I feel we have no choice, in the sense we are committed to a race to the moon with the Russians. It's not an easy answer. If we pull back now and the Russians pull way ahead, it will determine the outcome of the power struggle very definitely in terms of the uncommitted nations. If Russia wins, these nations will come under their sphere of influence.

A voice for the silent

This artificial electronic larynx, when held against the side of the throat, transmits sound waves. These waves are passed up the throat and formed into words by movements of the lips and tongue, as in normal conversation. For people who cannot talk because something has happened to their vocal cords, it's a godsend.

There's also a telephone for the hard-of-hearing that has a special volume control built into the receiver. Amplifying equipment, special bells, lights and other signaling devices, school-to-home service for bedridden students — all these things are available to meet the needs of the handicapped.

And we are now studying other possibilities that could be very meaningful. For example: changes in telephone instruments to enable a deaf person to feel in his fingers letters or words transmitted to him in code, or see them reproduced in front of him.

Designing and producing items like these serve the special needs of our customers. We believe in providing the best possible service to meet these special needs.

Her private life is filled with calls from other musicians asking "You want to play some Schumann tonight?" She is a violist with a Princeton quartet, plays twice a month with the informal orchestra formed by Joseph Kovacs, concertmeister of the Princeton Symphony, and rarely misses a meeting of the Musical Amateurs.

And asked about her goals for her neophyte violinists, she says, "I hope to be getting them to play well and to love to play. I hope they learn early the great joy of getting together with quartets and other music groups around town."

TWO CONCERTS SET

By Smith-Princeton Group. The Smith-Princeton Chamber Chorus will sing in Princeton this Friday and again on Sunday, June 13, prior to their tour of Europe. The Chorus, composed of glee club members from the two colleges, is led by Walter L. Nollner and Iva Dee Hiatt.

This Friday's concert, set for 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, will feature American folk songs and spirituals, Princeton songs and other light music. Andrew Imrie's "Two Christmas Carols" and Roger Sessions' "Turn, O Libertad!" are also on the program. Admission is $1 for children; $2 for adults.

SUMMER OF MUSIC SET
At High School. The 14th summer of music for pupils in fifth through 12th grade will begin June 28 at Princeton High School where instrumental lessons, orchestra and band will be offered.

These summer sessions afford the opportunity for accelerated study. They are conducted by a staff of specialists in strings, woodwinds, brass and percussion with the approval of the Board of Education.

A new course this year will be the guitar, in keeping with the increased popularity of that instrument. Beginning, intermediate and advanced lessons in the folk guitar will be given by Mrs. Marlan Lombard...

Sessions run for five weeks and are held every morning. Tuition is $35 a course. Enrollment will be held the week of June 21 at the high school from 2 to 4 p.m., or in advance by mail if approved by the school music teacher. Further information may be obtained from Sylvan Friedman, director of the music sessions, at 924-3225, after 5.

When you use SYLVAN POOL TREAT you have all the chlorine residual you need to fight bacteria, algae and other swimming pool enemies. POOL TREAT is a granular, that dissolves instantly, making your pool swim-ready minutes after you chlorinate. POOL TREAT is packed in break-proof containers, never leaves a color or odor, doesn't irritate eyes or skin and is harmless to pool finish and equipment. Most important of all, POOL TREAT is a lithium base chlorine that doesn't leave a chalky residue that other calcium base chlorines leave.

ADVANTAGES OF SYLVAN POOL TREAT:

- Completely soluble. Leaves no cloudiness or sludge.
- Doesn't clog filter.
- Convenient. Nothing to mix, just pour.
- Economical. Retains full strength over long storage periods. Available in 1 lb., 4 lbs., 25 and 50 lb. containers.

Mercedes-Benz 190 D

The "D" stands for Diesel... and for distance

It may be hard to believe that a car with the elegance and craftsmanship of the 190D could be so remarkably economical. But it's a fact. A very definite fact.

A 7,000 mile fuel consumption test by one of the country's leading petroleum marketers proved the 190D travels more than 30 miles per gallon. And Diesel fuel, available practically anywhere, costs about 40% less than gasoline.

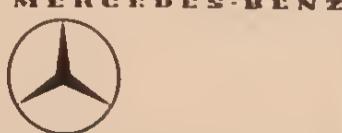

Come on in and we'll give you more proof why the Mercedes-Benz 190D is the world's most economical full-size car.

held at the Princeton Inn, the Outstanding Jaycee of the Year award was presented to Dr. Barton. Jaycee of the Month awards were presented to Thomas Barnet, James Crowley, George Gagliardi, Mr. Walton, Mr. Reeves and Mr. Schanhals.

Arthur S. Link, professor of American history at Princeton and editor of the Woodrow Wilson papers, received this week honorary doctor of letters degrees from Washington and Lee University and Davidson (N.C.) College.

The author of 13 books and winner of the Bancroft Prize for the best biography in 1956 and 1960, Professor Link has twice been a Rosenwald Fellow, once a Guggenheim Fellow, and a member of the Institute for Advanced Study, where he worked in 1949 and again in 1954-55.

Born in New Market, Va., on August 8, 1920, Dr. Link was graduated from the University of North Carolina with highest honors in 1941. After receiving his doctorate from North Carolina in 1945 he came to Princeton as a history instructor. Promoted to an assistant professorship in 1948, he joined the faculty at Northwestern as an associate professor in 1949, becoming a full professor in 1954. During the year 1958-59, he was Harmsworth Professor at Oxford University. He returned to Princeton in 1960.

Married and the father of four children, Dr. Link is an elder in the United Presbyterian Church, a director of Presbyterian Life, the Council on Theological Education and a member of the Presbyterian General Assembly's special committee on ordination and ministry. He is also a vice-president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

open letter sent to Mayor Charles E. Connell Jr., the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Adjustment and others active in guiding the municipality's growth.

In its letter, the League said, "Because we believe that preparation of a master plan is an important aspect of comprehensive planning, we are pleased the township has engaged a professional planner for this purpose...we welcome the formation of the 701 Citizens' Advisory Committee to the Planning Board to help in the preparation of the master plan."

Mrs. James E. Armstrong, president of the Lawrence L.W.V., said the League would evaluate any forthcoming plan from several standpoints.

AWARD TO BE PRESENTED

By Princeton Class of 1913, The Princeton Class of 1913, celebrating its 52nd reunion, will award the class loving cup to Karl Mathiasen "for outstanding accomplishment in the field of American-Danish Relations."

Mr. Mathiasen has been a leading figure on the Danish-American society for hospitality to visiting individuals and groups, a trustee and officer of the Danish Home for the Aged, and was active in financing its establishment in a new location at Croton-on-Hudson. He has twice been president of the New York Chapter of the American Scandinavian Foundation. In recognition of his services, he was designated Knight of the Order of Dannebrog by the King of Denmark, and was awarded the King Christian X Freedom Medal.

In business, Mr. Mathiasen has been concerned with the production of architectural terra cotta. He is now chairman of the board of the Federal Seaboard Terra Cotta Corporation. The cup will be presented by Malcolm B. Lowe, president of the class, Saturday at the Nassau Club.

ERDMAN ELECTED

By English Speaking Union, Dr. Charles R. Erdman Jr. was elected president of the Princeton Branch of the English-Speaking Union at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. Jackson Marlindell.

Also named for the 1965-66 term were A. Van S. Olcott Jr., vice-chairman; Mrs. Thomas J. Wertebaker, secretary; Mrs. James Campbell, assistant secretary; Kenneth Gapp, treasurer, and Mrs. Trudeau Thomas, assistant treasurer.

Board members elected for the class of 1968 are Bayard Dodge, Mrs. Colin Pittendrigh and Mrs. Samuel Lake.

Committee chairmen named are: Mrs. Frederik Osborne, entertainment; Mrs. Sydney Stevens, hospitality; Miss Julie Hudson, publicity, and Mrs. Fenn Stafford, membership.

MY DAD'S THE GREATEST
No, Mine Is! Bamberger's will decide. The store's annual Father's Day Contest will determine which Dad, of all those served by the store, is "The Greatest."

Anybody with a father can enter the contest. Offspring may obtain an entry blank from Bamberger's, filling it out with 50 words or less that outline the reasons why "My Dad is the Greatest." The contest closes midnight, June 17. Winners will be notified by telegram and announced publicly on, naturally enough, Father Day.

Prizes? A Pontiac LeMans hardtop coupe with white walls, radio, automatic transmission and V-8 engine. That's the grand prize. Seven other Dads, first in their store area, will receive an Amana air conditioner and a set of Starlite luggage.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Of Lions Auxiliary. Mrs. Sylvia Kapp will take office as president of the Princeton Lions Club Auxiliary at Tuesday's regular meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Peacock Inn. Mrs. Betty Frazer will officiate at the installation.

Also to serve for the coming year are Mrs. Helen Glover, vice-president; Mrs. Lee Neller, secretary, and Mrs. Betty Cooper, treasurer.

PTA BOARDS WILL MEET

At Nassau Street School. The retiring and newly-elected boards of the Borough Elementary Schools PTA will join in an open meeting at the Nassau Street School Monday at 1.

Retiring board members will read their reports and members of the new board will be introduced. Anyone interested in the activities of the PTA may attend.

STUDENTS TO EXHIBIT

In Queenstown Show. Boys and girls in the junior and senior high schools of Hopewell Township will show what they can do in the world of art by exhibiting their paintings at the Queenstown Shop, 43 So. Main Street, Pennington.

The show opened Sunday with a reception, and will continue at the shop's gallery for two weeks.

$2 million non-profit nursing care center near Princeton, N.J. offers unequalled care and comfort hospital-like features

The new $2 million Meadow Lakes Nursing Care Center in Hightstown, New Jersey—part of the magnificently landscaped Meadow Lakes Village retirement community—is now accepting resident nursing patients. This modern 90-bed Center provides—at reasonable cost—the most comprehensive nursing care available anywhere, combined with facilities and services usually associated only with hospitals.

Patients are cared for by a staff of 42 nurses. Registered nurses are on duty 24 hours a day.

Medical facilities include: x-ray, dental, examination, laboratory and testing equipment, a pharmacy, supervised bathing rooms—and a Department of Physical Rehabilitation: diathermy, hydrotherapy, massage.

Fine meals are served from Meadow Lakes' $500,000 kitchen—operated by world-famous Stouffers, with their own dietitians and chefs. Patients select from a varied daily menu—and all special diets carefully observed. There are convenient floor kitchens in each wing.

The Center is non-profit and sponsored and operated by The Presbyterian Homes of the Synod of New Jersey, Inc. It is entirely non-sectarian. Private rooms are $165 per week; semi-private rooms $125 per week.

There are no extra charges. The basic rate includes round-the-clock nursing care, meals, etc. and use of all medical facilities and services in the Center. Physicians and drugs are paid for by the patient, who may select his own physician, or use our staff members from the Princeton Medical Group.

Each spacious room is handsomely appointed and decorated and opens on landscaped courtyards and gardens. Every room has a lavatory, individually controlled heating and air-conditioning, private telephone, a direct patient-nurse Executive communications system, built-in dresser and ample closet space.

Beautiful public areas include 2 large solariums or day rooms and 2 patients' dining areas—all of which can also be used for TV and other social activities.

Patients may use the recreational and community services (barber and beauty shops, hobby and craft rooms, etc.) of Meadow Lakes Village.

Besides the cost advantages, modern medical and nursing facilities, and beautiful surroundings—it is the environment of competent, sympathetic, personal care which makes the Meadow Lakes Nursing Care Center so unique. As one of our residents put it, "Here I am treated as a friend—not a patient."

Please visit, if convenient, or write for further details—without obligation.

DIRECTIONS: Via the New Jersey Turnpike, use Exit 8, follow the Hightstown signs into town, bear left under the railroad bridge, go through the town and turn left at Etra Road, immediately beyond the Peddie School. Meadow Lakes Village is 1.3 miles from the Turnpike. Via Route 130 or Route 1, follow the Hightstown signs to the center of town, turn right at the street light and drive to Etra Road. You are welcome from 9 to 6, every day. Telephone: (609) 448-4100.

BIG 3 TITLE IN REACH
For Tiger Baseball Team. A chance to win the Big Three title, an achievement it has not managed in several years, is open Saturday to the Princeton baseball team. The Tigers will end their 1965 season with the annual Reunion Day game against Yale on Clarke Field at 3 p.m.

Upwards of 5,000, most of them members of classes returning for the traditional mid-June alumni activities, will watch the contest. The teams have divided their first two games. Princeton winning, 5-1, at New Haven last month, and the Elis coming back for a 5-3 triumph there Saturday. Meantime, the Tigers have an 8-0 shutout over Harvard to their credit, whereas the Crimson has beaten Yale, so that a Princeton victory Saturday will place it in the dominant role among these three old rivals.

As might be expected, the disappointment at losing on the trip to Omaha and the College World Series affected the Tigers' play at New Haven last week. They gave a lackluster, five-error performance in losing to Yale and all three of their pitchers were scored on.

The pitching, actually was perfectly sound—Tom Scott, John Redpath and Graham Marcott holding the Elis to three hits—but the five misplays continually gave the home team scoring opportunities. Scott started, Redpath was the loser when Yale broke away from a 2-2 tie with a pair in the last of the fifth and Marcott worked the last two rounds.

Captain Jack Singer, continuing his hot hand at the plate, collected three of Princeton's eight hits, one of them a triple. The defeat set the Tigers' record at 20 and 8, while Yale remained below the .500 mark at 13-15.

Navy	5	4	.556
Brown	2	7	.222
Penn	2	7	.222
Yale	2	7	.222

The outcome of the Army-Navy game at West Point, a 7-2 triumph for the cadets, gave them the Eastern League title and left Princeton tied for the runner-up spot with Dartmouth. Both have 6-3 records.

In Omaha, meanwhile, play in the College World Series began Monday with Lafayette representing District 11. The seven other entries were Connecticut, Ohio State, Florida State, St. Louis, Washington State, Texas and Arizona State. The last named ranked as the favorite off its fabulous 49-7 record, a season made possible by the fact that—contrary to football, basketball and hockey—there is no NCAA limit on the number of games a team may play and Arizona State opens its season in early February.

LETTERMEN LOST: 18

Foothall Losses Heavy. When diplomas go to the Class of 1965 on Tuesday, 18 of its departing members will be particularly remembered by football coach Dick Colman. In their three years of varsity play, they helped Princeton win 21 games while losing only 6, never knew defeat by Yale, and last fall were the guiding force on the team that rolled to a perfect season.

So well balanced is the group of 18 diploma-bound seniors that they actually constitute a solid starting team that could give an extremely good account of itself in two-way football and have half a dozen sound reserves to back it up. Four of them, for example, were all-Ivy; Captain Cosmo Iacavazzi was a two-year all-American.

It is a foothall rarity when a class goes all the way through college and still is well represented at every position by the end of its senior year. Whereas the two lower classes between them will normally have sufficient good players at one or more positions so that the seniors will have been beaten out, this was not the case with the Class of 1965.

The departing seniors could field two topflight ends, a pair of fine tackles, a solid center, and would be a bit weak in the line only at guards. The starting backfield—and it is worth emphasizing that it could play extremely good two-way football in this latest era of specialists—would consist of either Doug Tufts or Lynn Sutcliffe at wingback, Roy Pizzarello or Don Roth at quarterback, Cosimo Iacavazzi at fullback and Don McKay, tailback.

By positions, these are the losses:

Ends: Jack Slinger, Jim Hackett, Jim Batcheller. Hackett was All-Ivy on defense, but all three could play both ways. Also listed an end, but actually, a specialist, is Pete Riley, who handled the punting chores for the past three years.

Tackles: Ernie Pascarella, 225-lb. All-Ivy selection; Wendall Cady and Don Pett. All three were starters—Pascarella on offense, the other two on defense.

Guards: The lone spot where any appreciable weakness existed in the Class of '65. Neither Ned Porter nor Dick Jones won letters until their senior year, although both saw a fair amount of reserve action last fall.

Center: Mike Smith, out of football as a sophomore, hampered by injuries as a junior but the regular on offense throughout his final year.

Quarterbacks: Pizzarello and Fred Gouldin, the former a tremendous take-charge player in whom the team had complete faith as a field general. Gouldin a dependable three-year reserve.

Halfbacks: Don McKay, Doug Tufts, Don Roth, Lynn Sutcliffe, John O'Brien. The first two were the starting tailback and wingback on offense, key members of an attacking unit which averaged better than three touchdowns a game. Roth was All-Ivy on defense, a tremendous bulwark as a cornerback. Sutcliffe, too, was an experienced starter on defense, while O'Brien could be used both ways.

Fullback: The best in Princeton's near full century of football, Iacavazzi invariably played both ways while the outcome was in doubt. The team's leading groundgainer with 909 yards for a highly unusual 5.3 average from the fullback position, he takes with him both the career rushing and scoring records set previously by two Princeton immortals, Dick Kazmaier and Hobey Baker.

Only two other Ivy teams, Dartmouth and Yale, will lose more seniors than Princeton. None will match the Tigers in the quality of those who graduate this month.

PHS DROPS FINALE

6-5. In Extra Inning. Sentiment doesn't win ball games. If it did, it would demand that Ed Phrang's two-run single which tied Friday's final contest of the season with Cathedral would stand up and that Princeton High School would continue its comeback and defeat the visitors.

That's what sentiment would have decreed because Ed was a senior who had played precious few innings as a varsity player and that game - tying, two-run single was his first hit of the season. But there was to be no happy ending. Instead, Ed, sentiment and the Little Tigers lost out to reality.

Two innings later, in the last of the eighth, with two men on and two out, and PHS trailing by one run, Phrang popped out to end it. The final score: Cathedral 6, Princeton 5. It was the first extra-inning contest for the losers.

For the Little Tigers it was their 13th defeat in 18 games. Fitting, perhaps, because the Blue and White was not long on luck this season. For coach Harry Zoll, it was the end of a long season in which he had to guide a team that batted .178 and scored 48 runs — less than 3 a game — while yielding 74, only 41 of which were earned. For Phrang, that one hit in five at bats gave him a .200 average and sixth place in the list of leading PHS hitters.

Everybody Plays. In the finale, every single player of the 20-member PHS squad got in the game. Zoll fielded an all-senior squad at the start: Wayne Martin, Bob Mooney, Ken Ward, Curt Schaefer, infield: Paul Barrett, Bill Bartino, Gil Turner, outfield; Howard Riskin, pitcher; Paul Walstad, catcher.

TOP PHS HITTER: Gil Turner, senior outfielder for the Princeton High nine, has emerged from the just-ended season as the team's top hitter with a .277 average. Had Gil not committed a throwing error in the final game, he would have fielded 1000.

The game started as though Cathedral was going to win its eighth victory in 19 starts going away. Riskin (0-4) didn't have it. The Gales hit him hard and often to take an early 3-0 lead.

Chris Fischer, workhorse for the Blue and White mound staff, relieved Riskin and pitched effectively. He made one mistake in walking Cathedral pitcher George Hubal who then scored all the way from first on a hit and a PHS throwing error. From the —Continued on Page 43

nett finished fourth in the low hurdles in account for the five points scored by the Little Tigers.

Jay's time was three seconds slower than the winning time of 4.25. Although he did not take top honors, Gallagher had run a 4.23 mile in May. Jay had the satisfaction of beating his arch rival from Trenton, Dave Bradley, by 15 to 20 yards. Bradley failed to finish among the first five.

"Jay ran a good race," commented PHS coach Jerry Groninger. "He ran a real good third quarter lap and for a few moments I thought he had it."

Cu-captain Andy Kulley also placed in the shot with a creditable toss of 52-11 but he had to settle for sixth. "Had he thrown his best, I think he would have finished fourth, maybe third," said Groninger. The winning mark was a hefty 61 feet.

Kulley, of course, and all those who participated in the day-long meet, were confronted with the stern challenge of competing against the best from all corners of the state.

To finish in the top 10 was no small achievement.

"Some of the performances were fantastic," observed season's winner, and he mentioned a few. Two boys tied in the high jump at 6-8, 210 feet in the javelin, and a 46.9 in the 440. "That's close to the national record," said Groninger of the last mark.

For Groninger and the PHS squad, Saturday marked the end of a fine, record-breaking year. In dual meets, PHS was 10-1 and one has to go back to 1954-55 to find a better record. The school won the Mercer County Jaycee track meet for the second season straight by some 30 points.

"We had a pretty good year," summed up Groninger, who admitted, in answer to a question, that his team had done better than he thought it would at the start of the campaign. One of the reasons, he added, was that the team had better balance than previous ones.

"I think our setting four school records is an example of the year we had. That's pretty unusual and all of those were made 13 to 15 years ago." New marks were set this spring in the mile, shot, low and high hurdles.

1966? What about next year? How much talent returns? "We'll be all right in the weight events, especially the shot and in the jayvee where we have four of six coming back," said Groninger. "We'll be hurt most in the distances — Gallagher, Carl Giese and Roger Conant, all our distance runners, will be gone."

In addition, the graduation of Bill Aiken and Jerry Lyden will leave a big hole in pole vault, but Groninger hinted there was some potential in the jayvee squad to fill in the gaps. And since Groninger has shown repeatedly in his four-year tenure as head coach an ability to squeeze the best out of his material, perhaps another superior Little Tiger track squad is in the offing.

AIRPORT SPONSORS PLANE
In Women's Air Derby, Princeton Aviation, Route 206, sponsored a pair of pilots in the 15th Women's International Air Race, "Angel Derby," between New York and Nassau in the Bahamas. The airport provided a Piper Cherokee 140 and paid expenses for Dr. Helen Zubrow and Mrs. Anne M. Shields, both of Philadelphia.

Peter Hines, advertising manager for Princeton Aviation, reported they were "very pleased" with the results. Their pilots finished 11th in a field of 35. It was the first time Dr. Zubrow and Mrs. Shields had competed in the race.

The race originated at Caldwell-Wright airport in Northern New Jersey. From there to Nassau is a distance of 1463 miles.

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

At Springdale, play began last weekend in the annual Governors' Cup Tournament of the Springdale Golf Club, with eight teams qualifying Saturday and four surviving the first round on Sunday.

Two-man teams entered, each player being allotted his full handicap in medal play for the qualifying round. At the end of the day, eight teams with net scores of 66 or lower against par of 71 had qualified.

In first-round play, Don Donahue and Norman Schuele defeated Harry Hall and Jim Love 1 up. A second match that went to the 18th green saw George and Don Young eliminate Kling Fufner and Otto Nelson, 2 up.

Bob Lewis and Dick Lehter triumphed over Roland Smith and Charlie Foster, 5 and 4. Maury Mather and Tom Brophy defeated Bill Wallace and Jim Miller, 3 and 2.

One semi-final match remains to be played in the President's Cup Tournament, with Bill Wilson set to play the winner of the round between Eddie Donovan and Charlie Foster. Meanwhile, the qualifying round for the club championship will start Tuesday and may be completed any day through Wednesday, June 23.

The title will be based on 54 holes of medal play this season, with the last 36 holes to be played June 26 and 27. The men's championship has been based on match play and held in the early fall in the past, but was moved to June this year because it was felt that October was too late.

CONVENIENT for the regular commuter . . . here is a meticulously cared-for home in one of our pleasant neighboring communities. Nice view of fields and woods. Living room with fireplace, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. And when Summer comes (it won't be long), you'll be delighted with the large, cool screened porch. $22,500

MANOR HOUSE . . . this superb old Colonial dwelling is one of those places that everyone who dreams of living in the country would like to own. Only twelve minutes from Princeton, in real farming territory, it stands under magnificent shade trees, behind the long driveway that curves up to the front door. Inside, the beautiful living and dining rooms, the cozy paneled library, the very modern kitchen, the delightful game room with its bar, and its 6 bedrooms and 4 baths — all this lives up to the promise of luxurious living which strikes you when you first glimpse the place. You know that it must have plenty of land for privacy, and it does — 33 acres, approximately . . . But you get the surprise of your life when you stroll out of the vast living room and into the indoor swimming pool annex. In its own brick structure, 60 feet in diameter, the heated pool is big enough for a platoon to splash in. And the flagstone terrace around the pool has enough space for them to sit and feast on steaks from the enormous built-in barbecue. (Sole Agent) $175,000

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . a comfortable and substantial old home in a charming community. Only one block from the N. Y. Express bus. Hall, large living room with fireplace, enclosed sun porch, dining room, kitchen with breakfast area and powder room on 1st floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 large tiled bath. Partially air-conditioned. $26,000

NEW COLONIAL . . . nestled among beautiful shade trees on a 2-acre plot, this beautiful home has 5 bedrooms and 3 baths — plus maid's room and bath on the first floor. Huge living room with fireplace, paneled family room with built-in bar, dining room, kitchen with lots of breakfast space, laundry, mud room and large 2-car garage. The location, though, is what makes this property unique. Across the road from Stuart County Day School, and near the new Princeton Day Schools, this is your opportunity to learn the advantages of the architect's new "campus concept" of country living. (Sole Agent) $89,500

CONVENIENT for the regular commuter . . . here is a meticulously cared-for home in one of our pleasant neighboring communities. Nice view of fields and woods. Living room with fireplace, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. And when Summer comes (it won't be long), you'll be delighted with the large, cool screened porch. $22,500

MANOR HOUSE . . . this superb old Colonial dwelling is one of those places that everyone who dreams of living in the country would like to own. Only twelve minutes from Princeton, in real farming territory, it stands under magnificent shade trees, behind the long driveway that curves up to the front door. Inside, the beautiful living and dining rooms, the cozy paneled library, the very modern kitchen, the delightful game room with its bar, and its 6 bedrooms and 4 baths — all this lives up to the promise of luxurious living which strikes you when you first glimpse the place. You know that it must have plenty of land for privacy, and it does — 33 acres, approximately . . . But you get the surprise of your life when you stroll out of the vast living room and into the indoor swimming pool annex. In its own brick structure, 60 feet in diameter, the heated pool is big enough for a platoon to splash in. And the flagstone terrace around the pool has enough space for them to sit and feast on steaks from the enormous built-in barbecue. (Sole Agent) $175,000

Many fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.

TOUR BEDROOMS . . . here is a fine home on a wooded lot in one of Princeton's neighboring communities. Living room, dining room, family room with fireplace, bright sunny kitchen, 2½ baths. Ideal for the growing family as it is close to school and among a group of children in a companionable age group. $26,000

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . a comfortable and substantial old home in a charming community. Only one block from the N. Y. Express bus. Hall, large living room with fireplace, enclosed sun porch, dining room, kitchen with breakfast area and powder room on 1st floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 large tiled bath. Partially air-conditioned. $26,000

NEW COLONIAL . . . nestled among beautiful shade trees on a 2-acre plot, this beautiful home has 5 bedrooms and 3 baths — plus maid's room and bath on the first floor. Huge living room with fireplace, paneled family room with built-in bar, dining room, kitchen with lots of breakfast space, laundry, mud room and large 2-car garage. The location, though, is what makes this property unique. Across the road from Stuart County Day School, and near the new Princeton Day Schools, this is your opportunity to learn the advantages of the architect's new "campus concept" of country living. (Sole Agent) $89,500

BEDWETTING

CAN BE STOPPED

AND SHOULD BE STOPPED

Bedwetting is an embarrassing habit with serious and distressing effects which get worse year after year. It isn't fair to your child to have this go on and on. If your wettin' is over age 4 and has no organic defect or disease, you and your child deserve help now. When school starts again next fall, how wonderful it would be to have a child who is secure and confident because he or she has learned night-time control.
